

Wilson Asked To Avert Coal Famine in City

Public Service Officials Go to Washington as Traction and Utilities Shut-Down Is Threatened

Export Embargo Sought Interstate Commerce Commission Is Urged to Move Under Leyer Act

Morgan Donnelly, deputy commissioner, and James B. Walker, secretary, of the Public Service Commission, left last night for Washington to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to take immediate and heroic measures to avert a coal shortage here, which threatens a shutdown of transportation lines and other public utilities.

According to Deputy Commissioner Alfred M. Barrett the Interstate Commerce Commission will be asked to seek the aid of President Wilson in an effort to assume control of the coal situation under the Leyer act and place an embargo on all foreign shipments until the crisis here is past.

The action of the Public Service Commission was taken when it was learned that the city's street railways, gas and electric plants are on the verge of an enforced shutdown because of the shortage.

B. R. T. Is Worst Off

There were about twenty representatives of the gas, electric light and street railway companies at the conference held in Commissioner Barrett's office yesterday.

William S. Menden, general manager of the B. R. T., declared that his company seemed to be in the worst predicament. It has on hand less than 4,000 tons of coal, which is barely enough to keep the cars running for two days.

"We use on an average 1,200 tons a day," said Mr. Menden, "but if we get below 1,000 tons we cannot keep running. We are totally dependent now on our day to day deliveries and they are extremely uncertain. One day we got none at all and some days enough to keep us running for two days."

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company, Consolidated Gas Company, New York Edison Company and smaller corporations have about a week's supply of coal on hand.

To Ask Embargo

"So much coal is being used for non-essential purposes," said Mr. Barrett, "that we shall appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission and to President Wilson to assume control of the entire coal situation under the Leyer act, so that proper distribution will be assured."

"We shall also ask for an embargo on all foreign shipments, for, despite the shortage which has existed for some time, large quantities have been shipped abroad."

The deputy commissioner also said that many coal cars had been used for carrying automobiles and other non-essential classes of freight, but decreasing the number available for the transportation of coal.

There is no great difficulty in getting coal at the mines, according to Mr. Barrett, who says that one of the biggest obstacles is inadequate transportation.

"We could get the coal if we had the cars to carry it in," he said. "Thousands of coal cars are tied up throughout the country because terminal facilities are entirely inadequate to handle them."

Telegram to President

Commissioner Barrett yesterday sent the following telegram to President Wilson:

"The street railways, gas and electricity utilities of New York City will either close down or seriously curtail service within a few days, unless they can obtain bituminous coal. They are now down to a few days' supply and advise this commission that it is impossible to obtain enough coal to keep them going. To avert a public calamity such as would follow the paralysis of public utilities service in the greatest city of America, this commission respectfully urges upon you the advisability of immediate action to give priority to such utilities in the matter of car assignment and to see to it that enough cars are immediately segregated for public utilities use and sent to the coal mines for immediate loading. Only prompt and decisive action of this kind will avert the calamity."

Mrs. George O. Haig Is Seriously Ill in France

Is Sister of Mrs. Marshall Orme Wilson and Late John Jacob Astor

PARIS, June 22.—Mrs. George Ogilvy Haig, of London, formerly Miss Charlotte Astor, is seriously ill at the American hospital at Neuilly, with slight hope for her recovery. Her sister, Mrs. Marshall Orme Wilson, of New York City, is at her bedside.

Mrs. George Ogilvy Haig is the third of five children of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Astor and was born in New York about sixty years ago. Her mother was the recognized leader of New York and Newport society. In October, 1879, she was married to J. Coleman Drayton, but ten years later obtained a divorce. Four children were born in this marriage and they were given by the court to Mr. Drayton.

She spent much time in Europe, and in October, 1896, was married to George Ogilvy Haig, a wealthy London whisky merchant, who died in December, 1905. Mrs. Haig's sisters are the late Mrs. James J. Van Alen, the late Mrs. James Roosevelt and Mrs. Wilson. The late John Jacob Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, was her only brother.

The Stage Door

Raymond Hitchcock, Julia Sanderson and G. P. Huntley all in one review, to say nothing of a half-dozen other prominent names, promise an unusually pretentious "Hitchy-Koo" 1920. Mr. Hitchcock arrived from Chicago yesterday and met the author of his new review, Jerome D. Kern. Mr. Hitchcock saw opportunities beyond a one-star piece and suggested that he would be glad to share the honors—and the work—with Miss Sanderson and Mr. Huntley, whom he knew to be under contract with Charles Dillingham and for whom there were ideal parts. It was decided that these two stars should appear in "Hitchy-Koo" during its New York run.

The late-hour show at the Century

Promenade atop the Century Theater will be known as "The Midnight Rounders," the original title selected by the Shuberts. The second title, "The Midnight Lark," it was discovered had already been copyrighted. The opening of the Promenade is set for June 28.

At the Century Theater there has been installed a cooling plant which is said to have cost $50,000. It will be operated to-night for the first time to the performance of "Florodora."

A new asbestos curtain, beautifully decorated, from a design by Watson Barratt, the artist of the Shubert Scenic Studios, has been put in place and will be revealed for the first time to the Winter Garden audience the opening night.

The Greenwich Theater, Max Spiegel's new playhouse, which is to be devoted to the presentation of motion pictures, with a program of high class music by a large orchestra, and vocal soloists, is now under construction and will be opened the latter part of the year. The theater will be situated at Greenwich and Seventh avenues in a section of Greenwich Village where there is no theater.

This is the last week at the Casino Theater of "Betty, Be Good."

The play in which the Shuberts will star Henry Hull will be known as "Greater Love" instead of "Crucible."

Augustin Duncan, who staged "John Ferguson" and played its title role, has been engaged by Thomas Dixon to be general stage director for several productions Mr. Dixon is about to make.

Nora Bayes will return to vaudeville at the Palace next week in a repertoire of new and exclusive songs, with J. Dudley Wilkinson at the piano. Billie Shaw, the dancer, will appear in her own revue.

Charles Ray will be the star at the Rivoli Theater next week in a Paramount picture entitled "Homer Comes Home."

Mary Miles Minter in "Jenny, Be Good," a Realist picture, will be the feature at the Rialto Theater next week.

"Humoresque" will commence the fifth week of its run at the Criterion on Sunday.

"Suds" Mary Pickford's forthcoming production for United Artists, will be seen at the Strand Theater next week.

Now Is the Time to Get Goodyear Tires for Your Small Car

This summer's demand for Goodyear Tires, in the 30x3-, 30x3 1/2- and 31x4-inch sizes, is exceeding anything in our tire-making experience.

The unexampled output from the world's largest tire factory has been moving steadily onward to our dealers, but even this scarcely appears equal to the demand.

If you wish to secure true Goodyear mileage and economy for your Ford, Chevrolet, Maxwell, Dort or other car taking these sizes, we counsel you to act without delay.

Go to your Goodyear Service Station Dealer today to get Goodyear Tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes, and so avoid disappointment later.

30x3 1/2 Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50

30x3 1/2 Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost no more than the price you are asked to pay for tubes of less merit—why risk costly castings when such sure protection is available? $4.50 30x3 1/2 size in waterproof bag—
